MATTHEW DAUS, DIANE MCGRATH-MCKECHNIE,
JOSEPH ECKSTEIN, ELIZABETH BONINA, THOMAS
COYNE, THE NEW YORK CITY TAXI AND LIMOUSINE COMMISSION, AND THE CITY OF NEW YORK,

Defendants..
----- X

AMY J. WEINBLATT, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1746, declares under penalty of perjury that the following is true and correct:

1. I am an Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Office of Michael A. Cardozo, Corporation Counsel of the City of New York, attorney for Defendants the City of New York (the “City”), Matthew Daus, Diane McGrath-McKechnie, Joseph Eckstein, Elizabeth Bonina, Thomas Coyne, and the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”), and make the following declaration in support of defendants’ motion to vacate the default entered by the Clerk, and in opposition to Plaintiffs’ motion for entry of a default judgment.

2. In response to the complaint, and well before the deadline to answer the complaint, the Defendants filed a letter application to the Court on February 1, 2008, requesting that this action be transferred and consolidated with the related Nnebe case; an enlargement of time to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint herein; and a stay of discovery pending determination of Defendants' request for transfer and consolidation. A copy of the February 1, 2008 letter is annexed as Exhibit "A."

3. On February 13, 2008, I received a letter from plaintiff's counsel via e-mail requesting that an answer to the complaint be filed and stating that if it were not, he would file a motion for default. A copy of the letter is annexed as Exhibit "B." I responded on February 14, 2008 with a reminder to plaintiff's counsel that defendant had submitted a letter application to the Court that included a request to extend the time to answer or otherwise respond, and thus I believed a default judgment was unwarranted. See E-mail exchange between Amy Weinblatt and Dan Ackman, annexed hereto as Exhibit "C."

4. The letter application referred to above had been timely submitted and included an application to transfer the matter to another judge before whom a case defendants believe is related is pending. Upon information and belief, the letter application for transfer and an extension of time is still pending.

5. In response to my reminder by responsive email and a few others on February 14, 2008, plaintiff's counsel on February 15, 2008 opined that the "stay" defendants requested in their letter application would have ended when the request to transfer was decided. He then asserted that the application for transfer was denied, and that therefore defendants' answer was already "past due." See Exhibit "C." I asked for a copy of any order denying the application for a transfer, and plaintiff's counsel referenced the Court's scheduling order. His response made it clear that he interpreted this order, which contains the statement that the case is assigned to Judge Sidney H. Stein for all purposes, to contain a denial of the motion to transfer the case to another judge. See Exhibit "C."

6. I telephoned Judge Stein's deputy and confirmed my understanding that the conference order was unrelated to the letter application to transfer the case to another judge. I then advised plaintiff's counsel that the conference order does not address the application. See Exhibit "C."

7. Plaintiff's motion for default followed this exchange.

8. Plaintiffs' counsel clearly does not anticipate ending this case with a default judgment, as he continues to pursue a Rule 26f conference. See Exhibit "C."

9. Timely submitting an application to the Court seeking a transfer of the case and requesting additional time to respond to the complaint contradicts the contention inherent in a motion for default that a party has been deliberately inactive or unresponsive or has failed actively to represent its interests.

10. On the contrary, defendants submitted an application to the Court outlining the bases for their belief that the instant case was related to a case pending before the Hon. Richard Sullivan, and timely asking that this matter be transferred to Judge Sullivan in the interests of judicial economy. Defendants included in the letter an application, before the time to answer had expired, to extend their time to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint. Those applications are still pending, and common sense dictates that a default judgment is premature under the circumstances herein. Defendants have acted in good faith and have not delayed the case proceeding.

11. Defendants have a meritorious defense to the allegations set forth in the complaint, which charge constitutional deprivations in the revocations of the three plaintiffs' TLC licenses to drive a taxicab due to drug test failures or criminal convictions. Plaintiff Kombo pled guilty and was convicted of second-degree felony assault upon his estranged wife, which he attempted to explain by stating that “I’m only a human;” plaintiff Rothenberg did not contest the positive result of his scheduled annual drug test but instead admitted using marijuana; and plaintiff Abood twice provided “cold” urine samples, below 90 degrees Fahrenheit, suggesting that he altered or substituted the specimens. See Excerpts from the revocation files, annexed as Exhibit “D.” The facts presented at these hearings demonstrate that each of the plaintiffs may pose a threat to the safety of passengers, making the decision to revoke their licenses reasonable and appropriate.

12. In addition, counsel for defendants have been responsive to the requests of plaintiff’s counsel to schedule a Rule 26(f) conference. See Exhibit “C.” The dates may not be soon enough to please counsel for plaintiffs, but that is not indicative of any failure of defendants’ counsel to respond, nor is it indicative of a dilatory intent or, indeed, effect.

13. Wherefore, Defendants request that the cross motion to vacate the default be granted, Plaintiffs’ motion for default judgment be denied, and that the Court grant such other relief as the Court deems appropriate.

Re: Rothenberg et al. v. Daus, et al., No. 08-CV-00567 (SHS)

Dear Judge Stein:

On behalf of defendants City of New York ("the City") and the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission ("TLC"),¹ we respectfully request, pursuant to Local Rule for the Division of Business Among District Judges Rule 15(c), that this action be transferred and consolidated with a related case, Nnebe, et al. v. Daus, et al., 06-CV-4991 (RJS) ("Nnebe"). Both cases were filed by plaintiffs' counsel Daniel L. Ackman.

We also respectfully request an enlargement of time to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint herein, and a stay of discovery, pending determination of defendants' request for transfer and consolidation. A similar request was made to the Hon. Dora L. Irizarry in the Eastern District of New York in an earlier filed, and substantially identical, action captioned Rothenberg et al. v. Daus, et al., No. 07-CV-4279 (DLI). Plaintiffs withdrew that action pursuant to a Notice of Voluntary Dismissal on the same day that this action was filed, i.e., January 23, 2008.² In the prior Rothenberg action, plaintiffs' counsel took the position that the Rothenberg case is not related to the Nnebe case, and opposed consolidation. Plaintiffs' counsel's position has not changed, and he also does not consent to defendants' request for more time to respond.

² Defendants incurred costs related to first Rothenberg case, and reserve their right to seek costs associated with plaintiffs' voluntary withdrawal of an identical complaint (except for addition of Ebrahim Abood as a plaintiff) in the Eastern District of New York, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 41(d). Plaintiffs did not withdraw the action until three months after the City filed a pre-motion letter to have the action transferred and consolidated with the Nnebe case, and not until they served document requests.

As alleged in the Rothenberg complaint, plaintiffs are three former taxicab licensees of a proposed class whose licenses were revoked either because of failure to pass a drug test or a criminal conviction. Plaintiffs challenge a former policy of the agency to hear and adjudicate revocations in its own administrative tribunals; the current policy makes the application for injunctive relief moot.³ The two federal claims assert that TLC's administrative tribunals, which adjudicated the hearings of TLC's revocation charges, were biased and violated plaintiffs' due process rights. Plaintiffs' nine other claims assert state law claims.

The Nnebe action now pending before the Hon. Richard J. Sullivan was commenced in Southern District of New York on October 28, 2006. A copy of the Second Amended Complaint in this earlier commenced action is attached. Motions for summary judgment and class certification in that case have been pending since July 26, 2007. The case was reassigned to Judge Sullivan on September 4, 2007. Although two of three revocations challenged in the instant action took place after the filing of the latest complaint in Nnebe, a close reading of the two complaints reveals that the complaint in this latest action repeats allegations almost verbatim, and duplicates the state law claims as well.⁴ The amended complaint in Nnebe alleges that the defendants improperly suspended (and revoked) the licenses of taxicab drivers by offering drivers only a "sham" hearing after the suspension. The license suspensions were imposed by the TLC after the filing of serious criminal charges against taxicab licensees. The claims in Nnebe are replicated in the instant matter to address revocation hearings, as opposed to summary suspension hearings. Both actions challenge whether the agency administrative law judges were systematically biased in making their recommendations that drivers were unfit, and whether TLC's actions violated, inter alia, plaintiffs' rights under the Due Process Clause, as well as various provisions of the State Constitution, City Charter, Administrative Code and the Rules of the City of New York.

The instant case and the earlier filed Nnebe case overlap both in claims and in facts. Plaintiffs challenge, both in this case and in the Nnebe case, the independence of TLC's ³ The request for injunctive relief requested concerning TLC's policy to adjudicate license revocations in its own administrative tribunals is now moot because of this change in TLC policy and practice. As plaintiffs' counsel is aware, the adjudications of revocations based on criminal convictions and drug test failures were referred to the New York City Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings ("OATH") effective June 29, 2007 and August 31, 2007, respectively. See Reply Declaration of Marc T. Hardekopf, dated July 17, 2007, Dkt. No. 110, Nnebe, et al. v. Daus, et al., 06-CV-4991 (RJS) ("Nnebe").

⁴ In fact, similar allegations of TLC tribunal bias were previously asserted by a class of plaintiffs, again represented by the same attorney, as to suspension and revocation hearings held for refusal to provide service to a passenger. See Padberg v. McGrath-McKechnie, 203 F. Supp.2d 261 (E.D.N.Y. 2002), aff'd, 2003 U.S. App. LEXIS 4618 (2d Cir. 2003), cert. denied, 540 U.S. 967 (2003). Many of the same state law claims were rejected in Padberg. Ultimately, the Padberg case settled.

judges simply because they uphold the laws, rules and agency policies of the TLC. Thus, both lawsuits have a common nucleus of operative facts and overlapping claims, and most importantly, privity among the plaintiffs because the same attorney is representing them.⁵

A. Relatedness of the Rothenberg and Nnebe Cases

Rule 1.6 of the Local Rules of the United States District Courts for the Southern and Eastern District of New York states in part:

It shall be the continuing duty of each attorney appearing in any civil or criminal case to bring promptly to the attention of the clerk all facts which said attorney believes are relevant to a determination that said case and one or more pending civil or criminal cases should be heard by the same judge, in order to avoid unnecessary duplication of judicial effort...

As such, a transfer of this action to the Honorable Richard J. Sullivan would avoid unnecessary duplication of many issues that are bound to arise such as discovery, which is certainly going to overlap since both of the cases stem from the central claim concerning the alleged bias of the TLC tribunals. "It is well settled that even one substantial common question of law or fact is enough for commonality under Rule 42(a)." BD v. DeBuono, 193 F.R.D. 117, 141 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 28, 2000) (citing 9 Wright & Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 2384, at 451 (2d ed. 1994)). Indeed, some of the witnesses in the Nnebe case have already provided testimony relevant to the claims asserted in the Rothenberg complaint. It is clear that both cases involve the same underlying discovery.

Rule 15 of the Southern District Rules for the Division of Business among District Judges sets forth criteria to be considered in a determination of relatedness of cases:

...a civil case will be deemed related to one or more other civil cases and will be transferred for consolidation or coordinated pretrial proceedings when the interests of justice and efficiency will be served. In determining relatedness, a judge will consider whether (i) a substantial saving of judicial resources would result; or (ii) the just efficient and economical conduct of the litigations would be advanced; or (iii) the convenience of the parties or witnesses would be served. Without intending to limit the criteria considered by the judges of this Court in determining relatedness, a congruence of parties or witnesses or the likelihood of a consolidated or joint trial or joint pre-trial discovery may be deemed relevant.

Local Rule 50.3 (Eastern District of New York) provides a similar definition of relatedness.

A transfer of the Rothenberg matter to Judge Richard J. Sullivan would allow a single Judge to manage the two related cases and would allow for the possible consolidation for pre-trial discovery, providing enhanced efficiency for both parties as well as for increased judicial efficiency. Furthermore, some of the defendants named in both matters overlap, and as such a transfer of all matters before the same judge will minimize the burden imposed on these officials and the unnecessary duplication of the parties' and Court's efforts. It should also be noted that plaintiffs in both Rothenberg and Nnebe cases are represented by the same attorney, Mr. Daniel L. Ackman, Esq., and thus transfer and possible pre-trial consolidation would be advantageous to both sides. Defendant further submits that plaintiffs will not be prejudiced by this transfer.

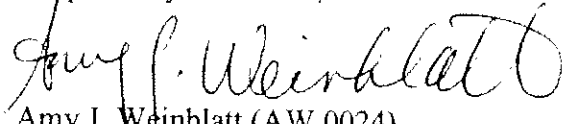

As such, we respectfully request that these cases be transferred and/or reassigned to the Honorable Richard J. Sullivan for the purpose of judicial economy and to avoid inconsistent rulings.

B. Stay of Proceedings

In the event that the instant matter is not transferred, defendants request a stay of proceedings in favor of the earlier filed, and fully briefed, Nnebe litigation. A stay of proceedings is appropriate because of the identity of parties and issues involved; the likelihood that an alternative forum will render a prompt disposition; the fact that the action in the alternative forum was filed first, and most importantly, the interests in judicial efficiency promoted by a stay. See Fleet Capital Corp. v. Mullins, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 4425 (S.D.N.Y. March 18, 2004) (first-filed rule applied to stay action in favor of two-year-old related action); Regions Bank v. Wieder & Mastroianni, P.C., 170 F. Supp.2d 436, 441 (S.D.N.Y. 2001) (noting that parties need not be identical to stay action under first-filed rule).

For the reasons stated herein, defendants respectfully request this be deemed related to the Nnebe action, and transferred to the Hon. Richard J. Sullivan for consolidation. Additionally, defendants request that their time to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint be extended to a date 30 days after the issuance of a decision on this request. This will allow, inter alia, sufficient time for investigation of claims and determinations as to whether this office will represent the individual defendants.

Respectfully submitted,

Following our e-mails of yesterday, I reviewed your application. The stay you requested would have run (had it been granted) only until your transfer motion was decided. That motion has been denied. Thus there is no stay and we expect an answer, which is already past due.

Re: TLC License No. 408258

Dear Mr. Rothenberg:

A hearing was held on May 24, 2007, to determine your fitness to retain your Taxi and Limousine Commission ("TLC") license in view of testing positive for use of an illegal substance. The presiding Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") found that you no longer meet the fitness requirement to maintain a TLC license and recommended that your Medallion Operator license be revoked.

I have reviewed the response submitted by your attorney, Michael Spevack, Esq., dated July 16, 2007. I find the arguments to be unpersuasive. The Commission accepts the Doctor's Review Service determination that you tested positive, and rejects your proffered defense that although you smoked marijuana at a party your TLC license should not be revoked. In light of your positive test result for the presence of marijuana, I am compelled to accept the ALJ's recommendation.

Therefore, upon careful review of the record before me I accept the ALJ's recommendation and hereby revoke your TLC license.

Dear Mr. Kombo:

A fitness hearing was held on May 4, 2007. After hearing the evidence presented, the presiding Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") recommended that your license be revoked. I have, moreover, reviewed the letter you submitted in response to the ALJ's recommendation, dated May 15, 2007. I find your arguments to be unpersuasive.

On March 29, 2007, you were convicted of Assault in the Second Degree, a class "D" felony. You were sentenced to time served and five (5) years of probation. Inasmuch as you have been convicted of Assault in the Second Degree, I agree with the ALJ's determination that your continued licensure would pose a threat to the health and safety of the public.

Therefore, upon careful review of the record before me I accept the ALJ's recommendation and hereby revoke your TLC license.

Dear Mr. Comm. Daus,

In response, first and foremost I would like to say that what I did to my ex-wife Leah was wrong, however this woman had been tormenting since 2003. I brought her here (as spouse) on Oct 24th '02 from Kenya, after about six months we both agreed that she should try to get a job. When it became difficult for her to find one, I decided to put her to college (Lga) to add a little more education to stand a better chance. In about March '05 she found a job, but thereafter her harassment intensified, including breaking of households, verbal abuse and even having affairs. My first arrest (Feb 4th '06), I called the Police because she was breaking things. She should have been arrested, but instead, I was. After the judge confirmed from the 911 tapes that I was the one who called the Police, I was exonerated, however she was granted the "Order of Protection" and I was thrown out of my apartment (for 32 years). Angrily asking why she was doing all that to me, she confessed that she married me only for the sake of "Green Card." Immediately after that, we agreed to divorce, so we filed for it and it went through in April '06. She found her own place and wrote to court (copy included) to allow me back in so that she could move out. On March 30 '06 she moved out. About three days before July 16 '06 she called me to say that she was coming to pick her mails etc., I said okay but she must come with a Policeman. When she came without one, somehow she managed to convince me to let her in, that it was too hot, the Police Station was too far to walk to with that heat, and she won't cause any trouble anyway. She ended staying for few hours, and I even fed her. After she ate, I asked her what time was she leaving because I had to go out. She screamed at me, saying that she will leave on her own time and not mine, otherwise she will break everything and if I wanted I can call the Police (she set me up, knowing that I wouldn't call the Police, they would arrest me because I had already allowed her in without their presence). A minute later she started breaking things in the kitchen, in living room, then she was coming toward me with a stick/club. In defense, I lost my mind and in a split decision, I picked up an iron bar which was in front of me and hit her once. With her scream, she exited through the window to fire escape, instead of the door (so that she could draw the crowd). Neighbors called the Police. The way I reacted to Police thereafter was not proper but please Sir, I'm "only a human" who snapped after all the above.

Sir, I have been in this industry since summer 1976, working at the same garage, living at the same address, having the same phone #, and most of all, never been arrested before I met that woman. Since I became a cab driver, I have been; spat at, kicked, punched and called all kind of names by either passengers or passerby, but I never responded. I am not a threat to passengers or anyone, therefore, I kindly ask you to give me a second chance. After all, I'm only a human, and humans are known not to be perfect.

Patiently, awaiting for your response.

Faithfully yours,

Tobby Kombo.

Re: TLC License No. 5177442

Dear Mr. Abood:

A hearing was held on May 11, 2006, to determine your fitness to retain your Taxi and Limousine Commission ("TLC") license in view of your submission of a cold urine sample. The presiding Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") found that you no longer meet the fitness requirement to maintain a TLC license and recommended that your license be revoked.

On May 19, 2006, you were mailed a copy of the ALJ's decision and a letter advising you of the right to submit a written response within ten (10) days to the Chairperson. I have reviewed the letter submitted on your behalf by your attorney, Isaac Godinger, Esq., and dated May 30, 2006. I find the arguments to be unpersuasive. On April 6, 2006, you provided a "cold" urine sample, which was below 90 degrees Fahrenheit. In light of your submission of a "cold" urine sample, which is recognized by the laboratory and medical review officers as a drug test failure, I am compelled to accept the ALJ's recommendation.

Wherefore, I have reviewed and accepted the recommendation of the ALJ. Accordingly, your TLC license is revoked.

Very truly yours,
